

Seamlessly connect your task management solution and collaboration platform

Together, the joint BulldozAIR and Dropbox solution enables you to automatically save site reports, plans, docs and reports directly from Dropbox to BulldozAIR, keeping everything up-to-date and available to your teams, on-site and in the office.

Easily share the most current version of your plans, documents and reports in Dropbox directly from BulldozAIR, even if you are offline

Provide a single repository for your documents to monitor and prevent against legal actions from contractors

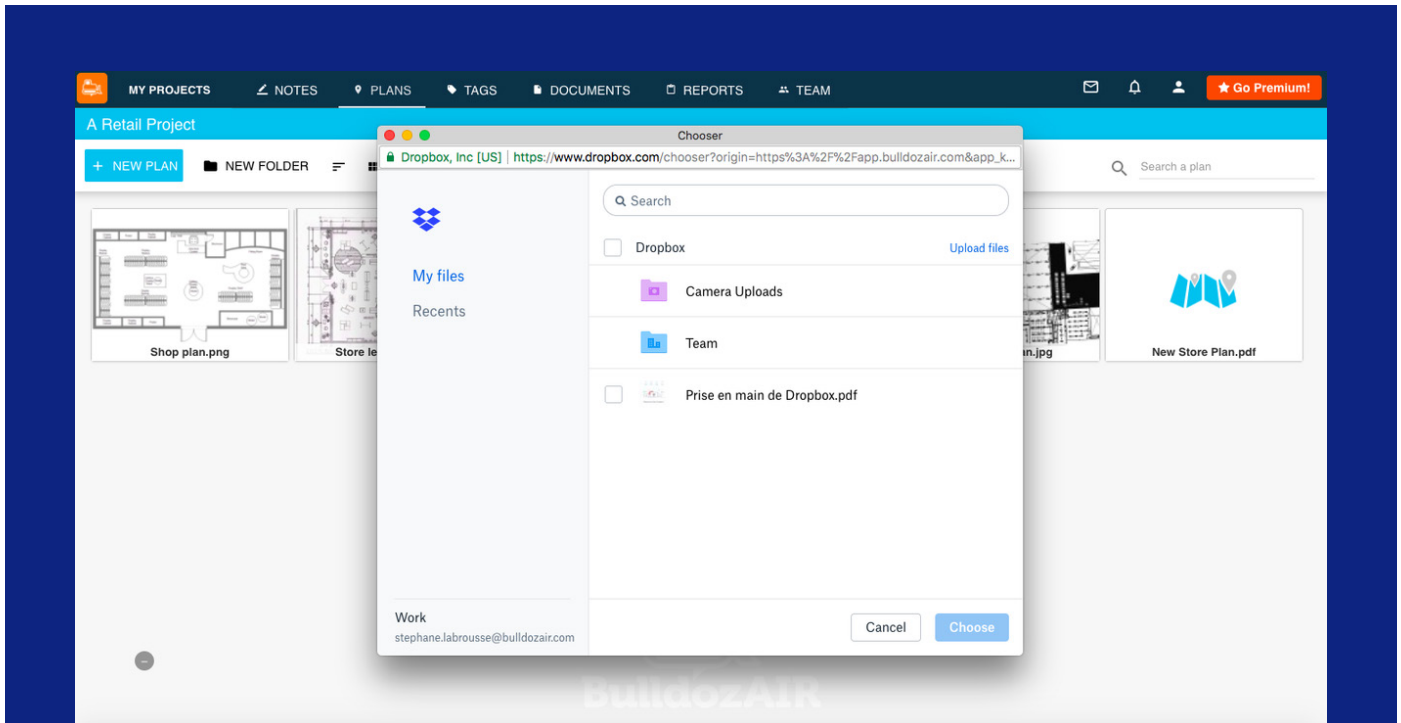

Oversee and manage several projects simultaneously, on a global scale

“With the addition of the 2-way sync with documents stored in Dropbox folders and BulldozAIR, construction professionals will be empowered with a more streamlined process for project management.”

Dropbox Business is a central hub that enables project managers and general contractors to coordinate their teams and job sites to reduce overhead

BulldozAIR is a construction management app enabling technical teams to stay on top of their projects, ensuring operational excellence

- Simplify project management and remove silos. Bring together work from internal teams, contractors, architects and clients in one place, and easily search and manage files from construction sites.
- Minimize delays. Dropbox syncs 4 times faster than competitors. Get instant access to renderings, blueprints and videos without VPN or taking up space on your device.
- Work productively. Collaborate on any file type, from large CAD or BIM files to Excel spreadsheets with advanced previews—whether you're at the office or on-site on a mobile device.
- Securely control and manage your jobs with extensive security and administration features that scale with your team

- Visual task management. Easily assign visual tasks to your colleagues in seconds while giving them access to: geolocations, priorities & deadlines. Visual tasks are easier to understand.
- Centralized collaboration. Work and communicate with your team while keeping everyone on the same page. Easily share tasks, photos, plans & reports wherever you are, even offline.
- Automated reporting. An email summary report delivered to your team's inbox every morning with individual & customized to-do lists. No more data entry, always stay up-to-date.
