Rapidly deploy Dropbox Business company-wide, while maintaining strong security protections through Okta Cloud Connect

As employees embrace cloud-based applications to drive productivity and collaboration, your company's requirements for managing security is changing. Together, Dropbox and Okta have built deep integrations that enable you to leverage the sharing and collaboration power of Dropbox Business with the automated security controls of Okta, including Single Sign-On (SSO), Multi-Factor Authentication (MFA), and user lifecycle management.

Integration with AD/LDAP
Easily extend your existing directory infrastructure to support your Dropbox Business deployment, including multi-domain and multiple-master scenarios

Single sign-on
Provide users with a single platform to access Dropbox and all of your cloud applications, eliminating the need for additional passwords or credentials. Enforce conditional access policies to ensure your users are only accessing Dropbox Business from trusted devices and locations.

User lifecycle management
Automate the process of creating, updating, suspending, and deleting users from a single console that integrates with active directory (AD), lightweight directory access protocol (LDAP) and SSO

Groups management
Push and synchronize user membership to groups from AD to Dropbox, enabling intra- and inter-team collaboration, ensuring users have access to their team's content on day one

Mobility management
Securely enable user access to Dropbox on tablets and smartphones via Dropbox EMM

Enhanced offboarding experience
When deprovisioning for Dropbox Business, remove or suspend users, wipe data from users' linked devices, and transfer files to other team members

"The integration of Dropbox and Okta allows companies to provide seamless access so employees are more productive, while minimizing the pain often associated with team management."

Karl McGuiness
Chief Product Architect, Okta
