How it works

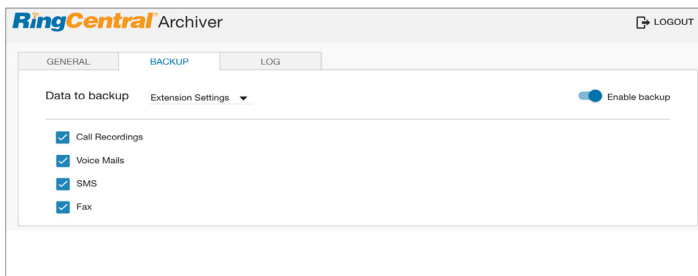

Setting up RingCentral for Dropbox is easy, and you only need to do it once.

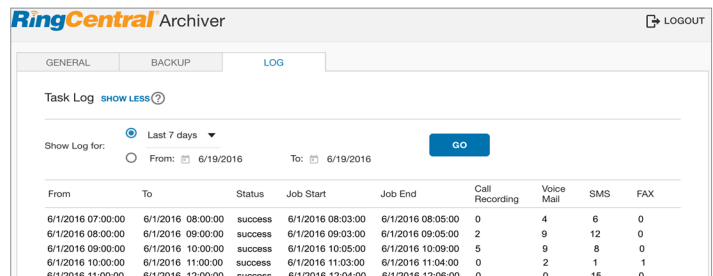

Connect and authorize your RingCentral service with your Dropbox account.

If you're an administrator, you can enable backups for recorded calls account-wide. Otherwise, you can back up data from only your own extension.

As a user, you can decide what type of data to back up. Select from recorded calls, voicemail, text messages, and faxes sent to and from your extension.

All backup logs can be viewed within the app. All archived files are stored in the RingCentral Applications folder in your Dropbox account.
